OCTOBER 2 PEACE DAY OF PUPILS

Following the suggestion of the Boston AMERICAN that the schools throughout New England hold peace exercises on October 2, two days before the day set by President Wilson for peace prayers throughout the country, the Boston schools have announced that they will hold such exercises.

It is probable that the plan for a Peace Day in the schools will spread all over New England, for the peace movement which sprang into being upon the invitation of the AMERICAN and Mr. Hearst's other newspapers to the leaders in all walks of life throughout the country to unite in a peace campaign, is gathering strength daily.

The Peace Day in the schools will be one of the most tremendous demonstrations New England has ever seen. The plan is to have a prominent man as speaker in each of the larger schools and there will be appropriate exercises.

"LET THE WAR CEASE."

The cry "Let the War Cease" is lifted today from every city and town in New England. Throughout the country meetings have already been held

Sinking of Kronprinz Wilhelm Pilot's 'Joke'

A report from New York early today that the liner Kronprinz Wilhelm, one of the finest of the North German Lloyd boats, had been sunk by the British cruiser Lancaster, now lying off Ambrose Channel, was printed in all the Boston afternoon newspapers today.

Some of the papers even printed photographs of the ship. The report was brought to New York by a pilot. The AMERICAN'S correspondent in New York, upon investigating the report, sent the following dispatch:

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—After giving out a story today to the effect that officers of the British cruiser Lancaster had told him that the English warship had sunk the liner Kronprinz Wilhelm, auxiliary cruiser in the German navy, Edward P. Nichols, a pilot admitted a few hours later that his tale had been only a "joke."

ROB POST OFFICE AT HOLDEN

The safe of the postoffice in Holden, a small town near Worcester, was dynamited, the office wrecked and more than $1,000 in United States government property stolen, sometime last night or early today.

Postmaster Moore of Holden notified Chief Postoffice Inspector Letherman at the Federal building of the robbery and the alarm for the arrest of the burglars was sent out from Boston.

The robbery was not discovered until Postmaster Moore reached the office early today, to begin the day's business. The noise of the explosion had been deadened by heaps of mail bags and was not heard by the townspeople. The thieves escaped without having a clew.

The loot included more than $900 in stamps, $19.62 in cash, $25.60 in money orders; blank money orders numbered from 14,525 to 15,000, a registered letter, numbered 215, and blank international money orders, numbered from 1 to 25.

BRITISH APOLOGY TO WILSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Great Britain has apologized for Sir Lionel Carden's interview in which he attacked the handling of the Mexican situation by President Wilson.

The British diplomat, in an interview given out in New York, criticised President Wilson for ordering American troops to withdraw from Vera Cruz. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, promptly informed Secretary Bryan that Sir Lionel, who sailed yesterday for England, had not been authorized to make any statement.

SALEM'S FIRE BABY IS DEAD

Tiny "Teck," Salem's fire baby, is dead.

The little fellow, who since the night of the big fire—June 25—has made his home at the North Shore Babies' Hospital, succumbed to a complication of diseases after an illness lasting several days.

While the little waif thrived in the outer air during the Summer months, he started to fail as soon as the cool weather made it necessary to keep him indoors.

His death came as a shock to his new-made friends, including Mayor John F. Hurley, who had taken special interest in the youngster.

It was two days after the Salem fire that this baby was left at the Berram field camps. On his clothing was this tag:

"Teckla Yureclevitz,
"Worked at Naumkeag Mills."

Nobody appeared to claim the little fellow and he was transferred to the North Shore Babies' Hospital, where the nurses for a pet name called him "Teck." He was about eight months old.

He was fat, pink and dimpled, and refused to cry—an asset which endeared him to everybody at the hospital. He had yellow hair and everybody seeing him pronounced him "a lovely baby."

Though motherless, he seemed contented.

GERMAN SORTIE REPULSED, SAYS PARIS WAR OFFICE

Desperate fighting has followed a new German attack upon the allies, according to war dispatches from several points today.

General Von Kluck, the resourceful commander of the German right wing, who has been frequently reported surrounded or surrendered, has recovered an advantageous position and, backed by heavy reinforcements, is striking back savagely at the allies.

Fresh French troops have been rushed to support the allies' left.

The conflict rages along the centre of the main battle line, with artillery playing a conspicuous part. Five thousand guns are said to be in use in this record-breaking artillery duel along the Aisne River.

The French War Office, in an official statement, declares that the allies have repulsed the Germans. A Paris dispatch says:

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The War Office issued this official statement at 3 o'clock:

"Fighting continues with utmost violence everywhere. The allies have repulsed a fierce counter-attack attempted by the Germans from their strongly entrenched positions."

TERRIFIC FIGHTING.

Shortly before that official statement was issued the AMERICAN'S Paris correspondent wired:

PARIS, Sept. 17.—Heavy reinforcements have reached the German right wing and General von Kluck's army, taking the offensive, is striking fiercely at the allies' left. New French troops are being rushed to the vicinity of Noyon.

In the same dispatch the correspondent quoted "a high government official" as saying:

"The German action on the right has suddenly become very strong. Should the enemy win the battle now in progress a second advance on Paris will naturally follow, but we believe von Kluck's army has little chance of success.

10 'ATROCITY' CHARGES FILED BY BELGIANS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Here are the ten counts in the "indictment" of the German army by the Belgian Commission which saw President Wilson:

1—In Linsmeau, after a skirmish with Belgian troops had ended, German troops bombarded and fired several buildings and shot eleven peasants to death with gun butts.

2—In Velm, without provocation, German cavalry fired into Mr. Degilmont-Xavier's house, broke in, destroyed furniture, looted, burned, carried off wine. Daughter, 14, and maid, released, her and fired on her as she ran. Carried her husband in another direction and treated him in like manner. He is dying.

3—Farmer Jef Dierckx says: "At Orsmael and Neerlanspeet, August 10, 11, 12, a man's arm was sliced—he was then hanged head downward and burned alive. Girls outraged. Peasants mutilated. Belgian soldier shot at telephone pole.

4—Wednesday, August 12, after battle at Haelen, Commander Van Damme, wounded and left, was murdered—a revolver being thrust in his mouth and discharged.

5—Sunday, August 9, at Orsmael, Germans propped wounded Commandant Knappen against a tree and shot him.

6—At Hellonge-sur-Geer, Barchon, Pontisse, Haccourt, Zelk, Germans fired on doctors, nurses and ambulances.

7—Wounded soldiers disarmed, illtreated and killed.

8—At Boncelles Germans carried Belgian flag.

9—Thursday, August 6, before Fort Liege, Belgians digging trench were surrounded. They hoisted a white flag. Germans continued to fire on them.

10—Thursday, August 6, at Vooten, Germans hoisted White flag. Belgian troops approached—when Germans opened fire.

REPORT TO HERRICK ACCUSES GERMANS OF MANY ATROCITIES

By FRANKLIN P. MERRICK.

PARIS, Sept. 17.—A report charging in the Germans with arson, pillage and the shooting of non-combatant Frenchmen was submitted today to U. S. Ambassador Myron T. Herrick by Leon Bourgeois, former Premier and Senator from Marne, who asked Herrick to transmit it to Washington.

Bourgeois, who claims to have just returned from a tour of the district recently occupied by the Germans, says that most of the communities through which the Germans passed were wiped out by fire and sword. He charged that the Germans shot several Mayors, and that in some cases where the Mayor was absent the Germans shot their substitutes. The report also charges that atrocities were made on women in Montmirail, and that a father and his twelve-year-old son were shot on each side. The report gives the names of a number of persons who claim to have witnessed the alleged outrages in Montmirail.

Touching on the German occupancy of Chalons, the report stated that when the Germans approached many of the inhabitants rushed to the railroad station and fled on trains that were leaving. The Germans before entering the city opened a brief bombardment, according to the report, which added that a number of the shells fell on the hospital and children's asylum.

After entering the city the Germans indulged in wild orgies, the report says. They are charged with pillaging the stores and entering a wine cellar, where champagne flowed like water.

CREW OF SUBMARINE TELLS OF SINKING GERMAN CRUISER

By LAWRENCE ELSTON.

Staff Correspondent of the American

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The following story of the destruction of the German cruiser Hela was telegraphed today from Harwich by a correspondent who said he obtained his information from a member of the crew of the British submarine E9, which sank the Hela.

"Three English submarines began stalking the Hela early Friday morning. The sea was rather rough at that time. The Hela then was about six miles off the German coast. It was about 6:30 in the morning when the E9 came to the surface, sighted the enemy and saw that it was within easy range. The E9 dived at once, and getting within certain limits of the Hela released two torpedoes at intervals of fifteen seconds. It is not known whether both hit the mark, but one certainly was effective, as a terrible explosion followed.

"The submarine remained below for about fifteen minutes and then came to the surface for a survey. It was found that the Hela was listing badly and certain to sink within a short time.

"There were several other German ships in the vicinity, but none of them were active fighting units. The E9 prudently dived again and remained under water for about an hour. When it came to the surface again the Hela had disappeared."

JANE ADDAMS SEES NEAR END OF ALL WARS

Miss Jane Addams of Chicago, who spoke today in Wilbur Theatre under the auspices of the Boston Equal Suffrage Association on "Women's Attitude Towards War," believes that in the near future all war will cease. Just as soon as we can get rid of corporations making ammunitions and put that responsibility upon different governments war will decline.

"We are in interesting but pathetic times," said Miss Addams. "Every one is talking about the future. We are witnessing great changes in Europe. The best men and women today are fighting for a solution of the problem, how to get rid of war, or rather, how to prevent war.

"Women are coming to the front. So much indicates this. We do not want to be too sanguine, but we believe that if women were given more responsibility in governments their influence would be keenly felt in this campaign against war.

"Militarism is the curse of the world. When we women ask for the vote we are asking for an opportunity. There are some evils in the world which the combined power of men and women might easily dethrone. We want peace. We are at present helpless in getting it, but if we had a vote or a responsible control in the government much could be brought about to end wars.

'T.R., STUNNED BY MAINE VOTE WILL QUIT RACE'

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The Herald prints the following today:

Theodore Roosevelt has abandoned his ambition to run for the Presidency in 1916.

That is the unmistakable inference from his present political attitude. That is the inevitable conclusion from his recent statements to politicians. He sees a short future and a gloomy one for the party he founded and managed.

He was upset by the Hinman fiasco in New York State. He has been irritated by the threat of Wilson popularity. He was bewildered by the stand-up-and-fight attitude of the Republican managers.

He was stunned by the Maine elections. He has reflected his disturbed state of mind in his talks to political visitors.

He has made it very clear to them that he has eliminated himself as the prospective standard bearer of his own party and as an aspirant for the regular Republican nomination, which he had hoped to get, and some Republicans had feared he might get. The culminating influence was the Maine election. The remarkable slump in the Pine Tree State of the Progressive vote and the heavy Democratic vote, which is interpreted by politicians as an indorsement of President Wilson, was a sort of stunning surprise to Progressives generally. It was very disquieting to Mr. Roosevelt.

War Bringing Peace Between Church and State in France

BRITISH LINER IN PORT AFTER EXCITING CHASE

Captain Davis and the officers of the British merchant steamship Anselma de Larinaga, in port today from Buenos Ayres, reported that they had been saved from capture by the German auxiliary cruiser Lusitembourg by the timely arrival of French and British warships during the chase. The Luxembourg was formerly a Hamburg-American liner, and according to Captain Davis has already sunk several British merchantmen in the South Atlantic.

On September 4 the Anselma de Larinaga was about 390 miles south of St. Lucia when she sighted the armed National Convention of the United Irish League of America, which will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, on September 26. The auxiliary cruiser abandoned the chase. Later Captain Davis was in communication with the French and British warships. He believes that the Germans learned of their proximity earlier than he did and that was the reason the Luxembourg did not pursue him to capture, as she is a faster ship than the Larinaga.

Captain Davis says that at St. Lucia it was reported that the British merchant steamers Hyades, Holmwood and Bowes Castle had been captured by the Germans and probably the Luxembourg, and destroyed. He also thought that the steamer Kelvindale, overdue at New York from Buenos Ayres, may have shared the same fate.

WATSON FLAYS HORGAN RECORD ON THE STUMP

City Councillor James A. Watson, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Eleventh District attacked his opponent, Senator Horgan, for being absent on matters of important legislation during his services in public office at five enthusiastic gatherings in Roxbury and the Back Bay last night. The candidate addressed nearly three thousand voters.

"Have called on Horgan," said Councillor Watson, "to take the same platform with me in a joint debate, that the voters could hear our records and judge for themselves. I do not say anything to Horgan, the individual, but I shall discuss his public record. He has never been in favor of direct legislation, and has been absent on numerous occasions on bills in which our citizens have been deeply interested.

"He was absent when the first initiative and referendum bill came before the Legislature in 1908, when Governor Walsh and myself were members. I also want to have him answer to you voters why he was absent when Representative Gilman's bill for the taxation of the transfer of stocks came up for reading. Why was he absent when the Sunday recreation bill came for a vote. Why has not a working man the same right for recreation as the wealthy person, who plays golf on Sunday. Let him explain it."

Watson called Thomas J. Fay, the other opponent, the "stalking horse" of Horgan, and asked him to tell the voters why he was absent when the Old Age Pension came before the Legislature in 1907.

Mr. Watson read indorsements from the Electrical Workers Union, the Metal Worker's Council and others. He is also indorsed by City Councillor Coulthurst, John F. Feeley, counsel for the Elevated Employees during the recent arbitration, James H. Doyle, former chairman of the Board of Aldermen, Harry P. Nawn, John T. Kennedy, chairman of the Ward 21 Democratic Committee, which has already indorsed his candidacy, Representative James T. Kenney of Ward 21, John J. Crehan, Attorney William Crehen, Joseph Lyons and H. M. Comerford, recording secretary of the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers. He is also indorsed by the Roxbury Crossing Club and the Jamaica Athletic Association of Jamaica Plain.

City Councillor John A. Coulthurst of Ward 23—Horgan's ward—took the stump for Watson last night and spoke in glowing terms of the record of Watson in the City Council.

Rallies in the interest of the candidate are to be held tonight at Warren and Bowers streets, Roxbury, at 8 p. m. Ruggles and Cabot streets at 8:30 and Tremont and Gurney streets, Roxbury Crossing, at 10.

MRS. CARMAN'S LAWYER AIDED ALLEGED BRIBER

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—George M. Levy, attorney for Mrs. Florence Carman, admitted yesterday that he was present Saturday when John Smith, using a subterfuge, got into the Mineola (L. I.) jail and saw Frank Farrell, the principal witness against Mrs. Carman. Farrell says he saw a woman running to the back of Dr. Cotman's house in Freeport after the shooting of Mrs. Lulu Bailey.

Smith has been arrested and is charged with an attempt to bribe Farrell. This action was taken on Farrell's statement of the subject of the conversation between them.

After his arrest Smith asked for an interview with District Attorney Smith. Smith, the prisoner, said, according to the District Attorney, that he was accompanied to the jail by Levy and a detective, Whiting.

At the time, Attorney Levy said, if Smith went to see Farrell in jail he did so on his own volition.

Smith, on the contrary, told the District Attorney that Levy told him just how to get to see Farrell.

As District Attorney Smith had given explicit orders that no one was to see Farrell, Smith asked for a permit to see George Sprague. Once inside the jail, armed with a paper reading, "Admit bearer," Smith was taken to Farrell's cell.

PEACE DAY IN NEW ENGLAND SCHOOLS TO BE TREMENDOUS DEMONSTRATION

"LET THE WAR CEASE" DEMAND WIDESPREAD

or will be held to endorse and support the movement.

Into the AMERICAN office come letters praising Mr. Hearst's proposal that Former Presidents Taft and Roosevelt and Secretary of State Bryan serve as a Peace Commission. Other letters ask that their writers be enrolled in the World Peace Committee, which with committees from other neutral nations is working and will work for peace till peace shall come.

Sunday's great meeting on Boston Common—a peace demonstration that followed the invitation of the AMERICAN to leaders in thought in New England to lend themselves to the peace effort—is the first of a mighty movement a great impetus. While 50,000 heard speakers urge peace and suggest plans for peace from the Parkman Bandstand, 15,000 others, clear across the continent in the Hearst Greek Theatre at the University of California were hearing similar speeches and endorsing them.

NEW YORK TO JOIN RANKS.

New York will join the ranks with a meeting next Sunday in the armory of the Sixty-ninth Regiment.

Every citizen of New England is invited to join the world peace movement—which you can do by sending your name to the AMERICAN. All that is necessary is that you enroll in the ranks, and signify by so doing, your earnest hope for peace now and hereafter throughout the world.

Praise of Mr. Hearst's action in inaugurating and advancing this peace movement has been voiced by the first citizens of Massachusetts and New England. Governor Walsh has endorsed it, and Mayor Curley; Samuel J. Elder, former Governor John D. Long, Bishop Babcock and many others.

In addition to these local men, twenty State Governors, twenty-four United States Senators, one hundred Representatives, four former Cabinet members, and the national officers of American fraternal organizations and educators everywhere are supporting the move. Today many favorite expressions came to the AMERICAN.

Rev. Dr. Charles Parkhurst, editor of Zion's Herald, the Methodist Episcopal Weekly of New England in the current issue of that paper, says of the meeting on the Common:

NOT A JARRING NOTE.

The meeting was unusually remarkable, in that, while all speakers urged the necessity of peace and spoke out convictions without let or hindrance, not a jarring note was heard, no single criticism of individual or nation was made, and not the slightest preference was expressed as to which side should be victorious.

It was a cosmopolitan gathering under the American flag, making its protest against the horrors of war, and advocating all peaceful methods for their settled to be one of the speakers in Sunday night's demonstration if he can break an engagement previously made. Mr. Marshall's hearty endorsement of the Hearst movement for world peace is attracting attention all over the United States.

In addition to this endorsement of the Hearst peace movement element of international differences.

The Rev. O. P. Gifford, D. D., pastor of the Brookline Baptist Church, said today:

I am heartily in favor of the movement for peace suggested by Hearst newspapers.

Let us send our best men to plead for it.

Let it mean disarmament, making of arms and powder only by governments, war only after careful deliberation by the Hague conference, and under strict limitations, to be followed by no seizure of territory and by no assessment of money.

Let the conqueror pay the bills for both parties.

DR. NAZARIAN TALKS.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Nazarian, pastor of People's Temple, the largest Methodist Church in Boston, says:

The peace propoganda of the Hearst papers is most timely. It is the greatest humanitarian movement of the hour. It has the hearty sympathy of every lover of the humanking. The world will rejoice when the banner of peace will once more wave over the warring nations of Europe. President Wilson has already manifested his high office, and the great nation he represents, by his friendly proposals as mediator.

A peace commission made up of representative Americans, keeping within the bounds of strictest neutrality, and with the spirit of open frankness and friendship to each and all of the warring nations, would, I believe, help hasten the hour of peace. This is America's supreme opportunity to put itself on record as a world-benefactor in bringing the present war to an end by diplomatic and friendly measures.

Dyer Names Oct. 2 for Peace Exercises in Boston's Schools

With the suggestion made that the public schools of Boston take notice of the President's proclamation to observe Sunday, October 4, a day of intercession for peace, I intend to send a letter calling the attention of the principals and teachers of the schools in this city, to observe Friday, October 2, as a day when reference may be made to the President's proclamation before the public school pupils, and would also recommend peace exercises to be held in the school buildings, where it is convenient to to hold them.

We cannot say enough of peace, and it is wise for us to use some special occasion before the schools to call attention to the President's proclamation.—Superintendent of Schools Dyer.

EXPECT MARSHAL TO SPEAK AT NEW YORK PEACE MEETING

By JAMES CREELMAN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The great Hearst mass meeting for world peace in the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory on Sunday night, with Governor Glynn in the chair—one of a series of American national protests and pleas against the world war, organized in New York, Chicago, Boston, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Atlanta and other cities—promises to be a historic event.

The distinguished orators who will voice the unofficial protest of the American people against continued slaughter, destruction and demoralization; the alternate music of the big band and the Century Opera Chorus, and the singing of the distinguished prima donnas, Mme. Sumann-Heink and Mme. Gerville-Reache, the combined chorus of 1,000 by York school girls—these and other impressively beautiful features of make next Sunday night memorable.

Thomas R. Marshall, Vice-President of the United States, has promised by twenty-one Governors, twenty-four United States Senators, 100 Representatives, four former cabinet officers, bishops of many denominations and the national officers of American fraternal, religious and labor organizations, representing more than 16,000,000 members, to say nothing of educational leaders like President Hibben, the successor of Woodrow Wilson at Princeton University; President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University; Chancellor Elmer Ebsworth Brown, of New York University, and President Thomas W. Churchill, of the New York Board of Education, on the business men of New York are coming in great masses to the support of the nation-wide American neutral demonstration against continued war.

The board of trustees of the New York commercial tercentenary commission, whose president is General Howard Carroll and among whose vice-presidents are Governor Glynn, Mayor Mitchel, Alton B. Parker, Vincent Astor, Joseph H. Choate, August Belmont and other notable men, have resolved unanimously to adopt the peace plan submitted to the American public by William Randolph Hearst and heartily join in concurrence in the spirit of the times for world peace.

These are isolated evidences taken from the thousands and thousands of written endorsements that are reaching the Hearst committee in a never-ending flood. Not only New York but the whole country is awakening to the immense significance of this American popular protest against world-war and the hope which it gives of an international effort for peace when the sentiment of the American people, speaking for civilization itself, has been organized and uttered.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR BARRY COMMENDS IDEA OF PEACE COMMISSION

Lieutenant-Governor Edward P. Barry commended in unstinted terms today the suggestion of William Randolph Hearst that the United States be ready with a Peace Commission to act for the warring nations of Europe. He said:

The danger, it appears to me, is that the war may go too far. If we are to ask our brothers in Europe to pause and consider, 'twere better 'twere done quickly. A month from now they may be so embittered, one against the other, that to stop the terrible conflict will be quite impossible. They are prodigiously wasting men and money, lacerating the hearts of mothers and wives and striking at little children, and all for what? Most of us have forgotten that the war in France originated of a Sunday afternoon in little Servia.

It is not improper for us to act. Pick a commission as big as that suggested by Mr. Hearst—Taft, Roosevelt and Bryan—and there isn't a nation among them which will not listen reverently. And don't tell me that Britain and France and Germany will not stop this horrible slaughter of youth if the way can be found in honor!

Mr. Hearst has blazed the way many times before. On no previous occasion has he so touched the hearts of Americans of every race is he is doing now.

WAR PROTEST BOARD FORMED IN BOSTON BY PEACE LOVERS

A war protest committee has just been formed in Boston and has affiliated itself with the Massachusetts Peace Society. This committee is issuing a peace petition post-card calling for world-wide disarmament, with an international court of justice, properly policed. The cards are to be sold for the benefit of the Red Cross and sent generally to the national head of our government and others, thereby constituting an immediate petition against war. The members of the committee are: Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Mrs. Margaret Deland, Mrs. F. B. Harrington, Mrs. Augustus Hemenway, Miss Louise Loring and Mrs. William Triton, together with Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, Jay William Hudson and Henry S. Hasklins of the Peace Society.

Fay Advocates Peace.

Advocating peace and eulogizing William Randolph Hearst's plan for the appointment of a Peace Commission to assist in putting a stop to the war in Europe, former Representative Thomas J. Fay, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Eleventh District, addressed large crowds in various parts of Wards 13, 19 and 21.

Three Things Necessary in Treating Skin Diseases

Cadum, the well-known remedy for Eczema, pimples and other skin troubles, does three things: it stops the itching, it forms a light covering over the sore places on the skin, thus excluding air and water, and it sets up the healing process. In many instances you will at once feel a distinct improvement in less than twenty-four hours. Then is such a good remedy that a list of each ingredient contains is printed upon each box. People who buy a remedy are entitled to know what it is made of, so they can talk to their doctor about it if they desire. Secret remedies are going out of fashion, and Cadum was among the first to show just what it is made of. Get a 15c box of your druggist and try it. The 25c size contains nearly four times as much as the 15c size.

FITZGERALD CLUB OUT FOR PETER TAGUE

All through the Tenth Congressional District today traveled the news that the Jefferson Club of Ward 6 has endorsed Representative Peter F. Tague for the Democratic nomination for Congress.

The Jefferson Club is the Fitzgerald political organization in the North End. Its president is State Senator Philip P. McGonagle. Its leading spirit is Henry S. Fitzgerald, brother of the former Mayor. John F. Fitzgerald, although he long ago left the district for Dorchester, has never lost his lively interest or his strong influence in the North End organization.

Democrats in the Tenth District have been saying ever since the Tague - Kelliher - Brennan contest started that it would be decided by the action taken by the Jeffersons. The news was cheered by the echo. Democrats declared that Representative Lomasney had been holding off in the West End to confer with them, for it is Tague or Brennan who has "the punch," and that when he is thoroughly satisfied on this point the West End leader will name the man to beat Kelliher at the polls.

CRITICIZES KELIHER.

"The attitude of the Jefferson Club," Representative Tague said last night, "is gratifying but not surprising. John A. Keliher's action in the mayoralty campaign has not been forgotten in Ward 6 and can never be forgiven there. The Democrats of this district have not forgotten the way city laborers were treated in the administration which immediately preceded the second Fitzgerald administration. Mr. Keliher stood in the last Fitzgerald campaign with those who believed in that sort of treatment for the city laborer.

"Mr. Keliher has too frequently traveled with Republicans. He voted against changing the Cannon rules. He has the distinguished approval of Henry Cabot Lodge — approval the right sort of Democrat can get along without. And he stood with Samuel W. McCall, and Peters of Maine, in voting against a proposed increase of the power of the Interstate Commerce Commission over railroads.

POSTAL SAVINGS VOTE.

"John A. Keliher voted against the Postal Savings Banks bill. And has the Postal Savings Bank been a failure? Why, in Boston alone, at the United States Postoffice in Boston alone, the total amount deposited since the bank was opened is $2,400,000, and the amount on deposit there today is $1,200,000! Perhaps before Tuesday Mr. Keliher can be induced to say why he voted against the Postal Savings Bank bill.

"And, moreover, John A. Keliher is not a resident of this Congressional district. His residence is in Ward 12, and Ward 12 is part of the Eleventh Congressional District, lately represented by Mr. Peters."

Outdoor Rallies for Watson Tonight

Rallies for Councillor James A. (Jerry) Watson, Democratic candidate for Congress, are to be held tonight at Warren and Bowdoin streets, Ruggles and Cabot streets, and Tremont and Gurney streets, Roxbury Crossing. The speakers will include John P. Feeney, counsel for the Elevated employes during the recent arbitration; City Councillor John A. Coulthurst, former Representative Sullivan, Attorney William Crehan, John Winterson and Councillor Watson.

German Bakers Cut Size of Bread Loaf

LONDON, Sept. 17.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Chronicle says that the Berliner Tageblatt complains bitterly that the size of the rye loaf which usually costs 12 cents is growing smaller and that bakers all over the country are reducing the weight of the indispensable white roll. The ordinary rye bread of the working classes is now over 4 cents a pound and the tendency is ever upward.

REPRESENTATIVE PETER F. TAGUE, opposing Keliher for Congress, because of Keliher's vote against the Pure Food bill and other popular measures.

WOMEN CAN HARDLY BELIEVE

How Mrs. Hurley Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eldon, Mo.—"I was troubled with displacement, inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased every month. I have been at that time pale in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous and had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world. After I had tried most every female remedy without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it? It has helped others, why not you?

This Frees Your Skin From Hair or Fuzz

(Toilet Tips)

The method here suggested for the removal of superfluous hair is quick and certain, and unless the growth is extremely stubborn, a single application does the work. Make a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water; apply this to the hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub it off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To avoid disappointment, be sure your druggist sells you delatone.

Exhibit Cotton Plants Grown Here

Along with the "Buy a Bale of Cotton" movement, five cotton plants are attracting attention. The plants belong to Franklin P. Shumway of Melrose and were grown here from seeds. They are the first ever grown from seeds in Boston, and the cotton bolls are just beginning to open.

Boston Is 284 Years Old Today

"Today is Boston's birthday!"

Just 284 years ago the town of Boston was rounded on the pear-shaped peninsula which at new people by the main business district of the city. The founding was not marked by any special celebration or sounding of drums, but merely by the decree that the town there formed should be known as Boston.

The LAST SHOT By FREDERICK PALMER.

READ THIS SYNOPSIS FIRST.

Marta Galland and her mother live on the frontier between the country of the Browns, their own, and the country of the Grays. By their house winds a road through the pass in the range. To hold the pass is to hold the range.

Their house was built by the first Galland on the land that his king had given him for one of the most brilliant feats of arms in the history of the pike. Beyond the house rises the ruins of a castle centuries old, its tower still intact.

Among the friends of the Gallands, two are prominent. One is Lanstron, the young chief of intelligence on the Brown general staff, who first met Marta ten years before as the result of an aeroplane accident. The other is Westerling, vice-chief of staff of the Grays and actual ruler in all but name, whose high rank Marta had predicted ten years before.

Marta, who has traveled round the world, is visiting the Gray capital, and Westerling calls upon her. She tells him that for nations to fight is as foolish as for neighbors to quarrel, and declares herself at war with all frontiers.

She tells him that she is teaching a class of children at La Tir, near her home, to abhor war, and is making them take an oath that when they grow up they will never cross a frontier to kill their fellow men. She urges him to prevent a war between his country and hers, for she declares, then will not win.

Under the pretence of manoeuvres, the Fifty-third of the Browns starts for La Tir, on the same day that the One Hundred and Twenty-eighth of the Grays starts for South La Tir. Brown regiment stops on the way to rest.

Herbert Stransky, a giant of a man and the best shot in his company, declares that there won't be any war, because there are thousands of enlightened men in each army who will drill, but, when battle comes, will refuse to fight. His comrades are angry and a sergeant grasps him by the collar. Lanstron comes upon the scene and suggests that when the pinch comes Stransky will fight all right.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"Very well," said the colonel, taking the shortest way out of the difficulty. "We will excuse the first offence."

"Yes, sir," said the sergeant mechanically as he released his grip of the offender. "We had two anarchists in my company in Africa," he observed in loyal agreement with orders. "They fought like devils. The only trouble was to keep them from shooting innocent natives for sport."

Stransky's collar was still crumpled on the nape of his neck. He resumed stock-still, staring down the bridge of his nose. For a full minute he did not vouchsafe so much as a glance upward over the change in his fortunes. Then he looked around at Lanstron gloweringly.

"I know who you are!" he said. "You were born in the purple. You have had education, opportunity, position—everything that you and your kind want to keep for your kind. You are smarter than the others. You would hang a man with a rope's end instead of hemp. But I won't fight for you! No, I won't!"

He threw back his head with a determination in his defiance so intense that it had a certain kind of dignity that freed it of theatrical affectation.

"Yes, I was fortunate; but perhaps nature was not altogether unkind to you," said Lanstron. "In Napoleonic times, Stransky, I think you might even have carried a marshal's baton in your knapsack."

"You—what—not!" A sort of triumph play around Stransky's full lips and his jaw shot out challengingly. "No, never! Against my comrades on the other side of the border!" he concluded, his dogged stare returning.

THE BUGLE SOUNDS

Now the colonel gave the order to fall in; the bugle sounded and the contraband legs began to assemble on the road. But Stransky remained a statue, his rifle untouched on the sward. He seemed of a mind to let the regiment go on without him.

"Stransky, fall in!" called the sergeant.

Still Stransky did not move. A comrade picked up the rifle and fairly thrust it into his hands.

"Come on, Bert, and kneel dough with the rest of 'em," he whispered. "Come on! Cheer up!" Evidently his comrades liked Stransky.

"No" roared Stransky, bringing the rifle down on the ground with a heavy blow.

Then impulse broke through the restraint that seemed to characterize the Lanston of thirty-five, who had met catastrophe because he was "wool-gathering," asserted himself. He put his hand on Stransky's shoulder. It was a strong though slim hand that looked as if it had been trained to do the work of two hands in the process of its owner's own transformation. Thus the old sergeant had seen a general demonstrate with a brave veteran who had been guilty of bad conduct in Africa. The old colonel grasped at such a subversion of the dignity of rank. He saw the army going to the devil. But young Dellarme, watching with eager curiosity, was sensible of no familiarity in the act. It all depended on how such a thing was done, he was thinking.

"We all have minutes when we are more or less anarchists," said Lanstron in the human appeal of one man to another. "But we don't want to be judged by one of those minutes. I got a hand mashed up for a mistake that took only a second. Think this over tonight before you act. Then, if you are of the same opinion, go to the colonel and tell him so. Come, why not?"

ON THE MARCH.

"All right, sir, you're so decent about it!" grumbled Stransky, taking his place in the ranks.

Hep-hep-hep! The regiment started on its way, with Grandfather Fragini keeping at his grandson's side.

"Makes me feel young again, but it's darned solemn beside the Hussars, with their horses' bits a-jingling. Times have certainly changed—officers' hands in their pockets, saying, if you don't mind, to a man that's insulted the flag! Kicking ain't good enough for that traitor! Ought to hang him—yes, sir, hang and draw him."

Lanstron watched the marching column for a time.

"Hep-hep-hep! It's the brown of the infantry that counts in the end," he mused. "I liked that wall-eyed giant. He's all right."

Then his livening glance swept the heavens inquiringly. A speck in the blue, far away in the realms of atmospheric infinity, kept growing in size until it took the form of five wings with which man flies. The plane volplaned down with steady swiftness, till its racing shadow lay large over the landscape for a few seconds before it rose again with beautiful ease and precision.

"Bully for you, Etzel!" Lanstron thought, as he started back to the aeroplane station. "You belong in the corps. We shall not let you return to your regiment for a while. You're a cool head and you'd charge a church tower if that were the orders."

CHAPTER V.

A Sunday Morning Call

As a boy, Arthur Lanstron had persisted in being an exception to the influences of both heredity and environment. Though his father and both grandfathers were officers who believed theirs to be the fine gentleman's profession, he had preferred any kind of mechanical toy to arranging the most elaborately painted tin soldiers in formation on the nursery floor, and in his father read about the wonders of military history and electricity and campaigns of Napoleon and Frederick the Great and my Lord Peterborough. Left to his own choice, he chose the parade of the garrison for inspection by an excellency in order to ask questions of a man who got oil off his hands with waste, who was far more entertaining to him than the most accomplished ramrod of a sergeant. Without being told one day that he was going to the military school the following Autumn, he broke out in open rebellion.

"I don't want to go to the army!" he said.

"Why?" asked his father, thinking that when the boy had to give his reasons he would soon be argued out of the heresy.

"It's drilling a few hours a day, then nothing to do," Arthur replied. "All your work waits on war and you don't know that there will ever be any war. It waits on something nobody wants to happen. Now, if you manufacture something, why, you see, you come out cloth, steel coms out an automobile. If you build a bridge you see it rising little by little. You're getting your results every day; you see your mistakes and your successes. You're making something, creating something; there's something going on all the while that isn't guesswork. I think that's what I want to say. You won't order me to be a soldier, will you?"

MARSHAL AN OLD FRIEND

The father, loath to do this, called in the assistance of an able pleader, Eugene Partow, lately became chief of staff of the Browns, who was an old friend of the Lanstron family. Partow turned the balance on the side of filial affection. He kept watch of the boy, but without favoring him with influence. Young Lanstron, who wanted to see results, had to earn them. He realized in practice the truth of Partow's saying that there was nothing he had ever learned but what could be of service to him as an officer.

"Finding enough work to do!" Partow would ask with a chuckle when they met in these days, for he had made Lanstron both chief of intelligence and chief aerostatic officer. Young Colonel Lanstron's was the duty of gaining the secrets of the Gray staff and keeping those of the Brown and organizing up-to-the moment efficiency in the new forces of the air.

He had remarked truly enough that the injury to his left hand served as a better reminder against the folly of wool-gathering than a string, even a large red string, tied around his finger. Thanks to skilful surgery, the fingers, incapable of spreading much, were yet serviceable and had a firm grip on the wheel as he rose from the aeroplane station on the Sunday morning after Martha's return home for a flight to La Tir.

He knew the pattern weaving under his feet as one knows that of his own garden from an overlooking window. Every detail of the staff map, ravines, roads, buildings, battery positions, was stitched together in the flowing reality of actual vision. No white posts were necessary to tell him where the boundary line between the two nations lay. The line was drawn in his brain.

WAR PERSONALITIES AND SIDELIGHTS

LEON ROTHIER, bass of the Metropolitan Opera Company; Gustave Huberdeu, Armand Crabbe, baritone, and Marcel Charlier, conductor of the Chicago company, have been killed fighting for the allies.

LAMBERTI, the English impersonator, playing in this city, has received word from London that his brother is a German prisoner of war.

CARLISLE CLARK, formerly of Lynn, has just reached London from Brussels, and says he saw the Kaiser's guard in Brussels at the time of the Kaiser's visit there.

HOW TO TEST YOUR EYES
A SIMPLE TEST FOR NORMAL EYESIGHT.
An eye test that costs but five cents and is worth the price aside from the value of the test is a moving picture show. If you can sit through an average program without your eyes aching or feeling dry and tired and without feeling an inclination to open and close them frequently, and if an hour later, or the next morning, your eyes feel perfectly smooth and easy, there is nothing much the matter with them. If, however, after such a program your vision is dim, your eyes feel dry or irritated or burn or itch or ache or feel overworked, try this prescription:
Optona 5 Grains (4 tablet).
Water 2 Ounces.
Dissolve the tablet in the 2 ounces of water and use as an eye wash four to five times a day. This application tones the tired lining, seems to loosen the strain at once and makes your eyes feel smooth and fine. A few days after an evening at the moving pictures or after a hard day's work where you have used the eyes unusually, irritation, inflammation and many minor eye troubles are greatly benefited and sometimes wholly cured by the use of this prescription. If you wear glasses, try it. You may discover your eyesight is better than you need them. Glasses bought at chance stores or from peripatetic schoolmen by the use of glasses are, as a rule, very inferior. Consult your eyesight specialist regarding this optician may give you a favorable opportunity to buy whether or not you need glasses. It is a simple home remedy that has been used by thousands of thousands, and among its users many regard it as an indispensable part of their daily toilet.

CROP PAYMENTS WILL START BUSINESS BOOM

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor.

While there evidently is more optimism in London to re-open the stock exchange there, it is said that governors of the one in New York have not officially considered resumption by their own. It is said that none of the plans so far offered for re-opening is approved of by dominant banking interests. One governor is reported as being in favor of eventually forming a great syndicate to support prices and as saying: "Just so long as New York banks are $25,000,000 below legal reserve requirements stock exchange resumption must be postponed."

It is estimated that when the New York market closed the short interest totalled 1,000,000 shares. Estimates of how much foreigners have invested in American securities vary from $4,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000.

What changes are reported in most lines of trade show improvement. When farmers get crop money, a big buying movement of "Made in America" goods is expected by merchants and manufacturers.

DECLINE IN FOREIGN TRADE.

The decline of this country's foreign trade during August was due to the war. Early in the month navigation was curtailed by fear of seizure of vessels upon the high seas and after it became obviously safe there was little demand in Europe for American products except foodstuffs, while most goods received here from abroad were ordered before hostilities began. For this month it is expected that exports will total much more than imports, whereas during August imports exceeded exports by about $29,000,000. The decline in custom revenues has been so marked that Congress is about to enact a "war" tax, while this country is at peace. It is estimated that during the first half of September copper exports amounted to about 50,000,000 pounds, or far less than is normal. But foreigners continue heavy buyers of grain, especially wheat. Further export orders was what caused the big price advance within a few days. There was not much change in grain prices when the Chicago market opened today.

CANADA AFTER MONEY HERE.

The war has prevented Canada from doing any flanking in London, so Canadians are trying to place loans in this country. It is said that New York bankers have refused to place loans aggregating $100,000,000 for Dominion interests. As regards the international monetary situation, there is an easier tendency to sterling exchange. The third consignment of British treasury bills, amounting to $75,000,000, was floated without difficulty. For six months' bills $492.41 was offered, for twelve months' bills $481.22. "Now that the war clouds are passing," it is cabled to Hearst newspapers from London, "investors will not be able to resist the temptation to purchase stocks. Banks, also, are getting into their stride and with one exception their difficulties are being overcome. But the foreign exchange problem makes little progress."

BANK OF ENGLAND REPORT.

Although it is expected that London banks in general will reduce the interest rate from 3 to 2½ per cent. today an, it is stated, "a general hint to depositors to take their money and employ it elsewhere," no change was made in the Bank of England's minimum discount rate. It remains at 5 per cent. The Bank of England's weekly statement is an improvement over that of last week, the proportion of reserve to liabilities increasing from 19.21 per cent. to 21.18. During the week the bank increased its bullion about $6,000,000. It has set aside another substantial sum of gold to redeem treasury notes.

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

Some foreign inquiry for copper is reported at New York. It is said to be selling for 12 cents per pound in London; 12¼ is asked in New York.

For the last fiscal year, earnings of the Reading Company equalled 10¾ per cent. on common stock, compared with 9¾ for the previous year.

The Old Dominion Company of Maine, the holding corporation, has declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share, payable October 8. Three months ago $1 a share was declared, a year ago $1.25.

The Sydney, Australia, stock exchange will reopen on Monday next.

MOTOR NOTES

By J. C. KERRISON.

The Ford plant across the Charles River in Cambridge has often proven most attractive and interesting to delegates to large commercial and mercantile conventions that have been held in this city in the past six months. Often it is visited by large bodies of delegates and yesterday Manager Charles E. Fay had the pleasure of exhibiting his complete assembling plant to the members of the Metal Trades Association, now holding a convention in Boston.

These men were surprised at the magnitude of the building. Its thoroughness, its efficiency and the rapid manner in which a motor car is assembled. For the edification of the delegates Manager Fay had a car assembled. The men accompanied it through its various stages of construction from the very first to the last when it came off the testing block ready for the road.

After an inspection of this plant the delegates visited the Gray & Davis establishment in close proximity where there entertained by President William Gray, who exhibited to them the method of construction and the work demanded from the special Gray & Davis equipment for the starting and lighting of motor vehicles.

Previous to the arrival of the members of the Metal Trades Association the office force of the Ford Company were given an opportunity to inspect for themselves that portion of the great building to the rear of the administration department. They have written and talked Ford, but few of them noted the great mechanical department that is maintained in Cambridge by the Ford Motor Company.

A motor vehicle ambulance of striking design for foreign war service attracted considerable attention in Philadelphia streets yesterday. It was built by the Autocar Company of Ardmore, Pa. and represents the contribution by that company and its employes to the Red Cross Relief work.

The dedication ceremony was held at Haverford yesterday at the home of L. S. Clark, consulting engineer of the company, who together with his brother, John S. Clarke, were the founders of the Autocar Company.

The ambulance in its snow-white paint emblazoned with the sign of the Red Cross in red presents an attractive and business-like appearance. It will accommodate in all fourteen wounded men in addition to the driver and is provided with lockers containing medical equipment, antiseptics and surgical instruments.

MISS MARION WALLACE, Brookline girl who was thrown from her horse and painfully injured.

While riding a horse on Gorham avenue, near the Brookline High School, Miss Marian Wallace, of No. 22 Salisbury road, Brookline, was thrown headlong when the horse got frightened at a passing automobile and bolted. The young woman was unconscious and was taken into a nearby house and later removed to her home in the police ambulance.

She was treated by Dr. Joseph Kittredge of Cypress street, Brookline. She sustained a painful bruise to her head, left arm, and was badly shaken up. Miss Wallace, who is eighteen years old, and a student at Miss Evans' private school on Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay, is well known as a horsewoman. She returned about a week ago from Europe where she went early in the Summer.

40 Killed in Paris by German Bombs

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—That at least forty Parisians were killed by German bombs dropped into the French capital when the Germans were almost under its walls, was the statement made by passengers returning from the war zone on the Febre liner Patria, which arrived from Marseilles today. The steamer left Marseilles on September 3 and was halted twice by British cruisers on the way over, once when off the Azores by the Vindictive and again outside of New York by the Essex. The Patria brought 599 passengers, all of whom were Americans.

SIX U. S. TRANSPORTS ORDERED TO VERA CRUZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Six transports were today ordered by Secretary of War Garrison to proceed to Vera Cruz to move the American troops back to the United States. These vessels are the Buford and Kilpatrick at Colon, the City of Macon and City of Denver at Newport News, the Kansas at Galveston and the Cristobal at New York.

Secretary Garrison said he expected it would take about ten days for all the transports to assemble at Vera Cruz.

"The conditions at Vera Cruz are unchanged," he said. "No advices that would indicate that the inhabitants are panic-stricken at the thought of American evacuation have been received. The United States will surrender the customs house as soon as some one is selected to take it over."

Dispatches from Vera Cruz, however, say that it is estimated that there are about 20,000 refugees in Vera Cruz at present endangered by the evacuation order of President Wilson.

Among these are such men as Enrique Creel, formerly ambassador at Washington, and Juan Terrazas with their families and relatives. Carlos Rincon Gallardo, a prominent and wealthy Mexican from Mexico City and a graduate of Oxford University; Manuel Questa Garraldo, a Mexican who never participated in politics; Guillermo Brockman, a wealthy Mexican-German mixed; more than 400 priests and 300 nuns all of whom are penniless and many of whom bear already marks received from ruffianly treatment in hospitals.

In addition to these named there are a great many former Federals who, mustered out of the Huerta army, fled to Vera Cruz for protection. In spite of the protocol signed by Carranza and Velasco promising them protection from persecution, the men certainly contemplate taking the field although many of them are more than sixty years old.

The Mexicans cannot believe the United States will abandon them to the conditions that will prevail here in the event of the troops being withdrawn.

BATTLE OF THE AISNE RAGES WITH TERRIFIC FURY ON 120-MILE FRONT

VANTAGE CLAIMED BY ALLIES AND GERMANS

The first mention of the number of German reinforcements came in this mid-afternoon dispatch:

MAESTRICHT, Holland, Sept. 17.—(via Amsterdam)—One hundred regiments of German infantry (about 100,000 men) and artillery forces with forty guns, passed through Liege toward France on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The atest German official statement says that the French were repulsed, but the statement goes no farther than last night, whereas the French official announcement of repulsing the Germans indicates a time subsequent to the night actions. The German announcement reads:

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—This official announcement was made at headquarters today:

"French attacks at a number of points on Tuesday night and Wednesday were successfully repulsed by the Germans, who made a number of victorious counter-attacks."

5,000 GUNS IN DUEL.

The battle, which will go down in history as the "Battle of the Aisne," is being fought out along a 120-mile battle front.

The fighting is terrific and unremitting, especially the artillery fire. Five thousand guns are engaged. Particularly heroic has been the work of the British engineering corps, which threw pontoons across the river in the face of a raking German cannonade.

Both sides make official statements of success, but the claims are modest. Concerning the French claims, the AMERICAN'S Paris correspondent wires:

PARIS, Sept. 17.—General Gallieni, military governor, declared today that dispatches from the front show the allies are gaining slowly. He said:

The Germans have been compelled to yield under the pressure of the French and British. We feel sure the Germans will again be in rapid retirement before the end of the week.

Berlin, on the other hand, maintains that the allies' efforts are so far futile, as indicated in the following dispatch:

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—This official statement was made here today:

The attacks of the allied British and French forces on our front continue without success. Some advantages have been gained by our troops, but they will not press the offensive until the enemy has exhausted itself. The rapidity with which the German armies accomplished the invasion of France made it necessary that they should be given a brief respite. This they are obtaining.

HAMMER AT RIGHT.

That the allies have attempted an enveloping movement on the German right under von Kluck is indicated by a dispatch today, as follows:

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Sweeping sixty miles north of Paris a French army commanded by General d'Amade is striking at the rear of the German right wing in an attempt to cut General von Kluck's army off from the main German forces, according to unofficial reports that were allowed to pass the French censor and reached London early today.

A correspondent telegraphing from Amiens says:

The German right wing is encircled. I was able to join friendly French Zouaves a little south of Peronne. Near there a French battery was in action about 400 yards on our left.

Peronne is fifty-two miles southwest of Maubeuge and fifteen miles west-northwest of St. Quentin.

A 10 o'clock bulletin from Petrograd, via Paris, said that the Russians are in Przemysl. The dispatch read:

PARIS, Sept. 17.—A Petrograd dispatch to the Matin says that the Russian army is reported to have occupied Przemysl, the Austrian fortress on the River San.

Przemysl is a fortified Austrian stronghold about 125 miles east of Cracow. In an earlier dispatch today from Petrograd Russian military experts were quoted as saying that Przemysl had probably been abandoned by the retreating Austrians, as the Russians had cut off its communication with Cracow.

The Russian War Office hears that the Kaiser is rushing nearly one-third of a million men back across Germany to help his imperilled armies in France. A brief dispatch on this says:

PETROGRAD, Sept. 17.—The War Office received news today that eight army corps (320,000 men), that Germany sent east to repel the Russian attack in East Prussia and to help the Austrians in Galicia, have been withdrawn and are being rushed back to the western theatre of war. The Russian general staff says this will merely increase the rapidity of Russian army operations.

The Warsaw correspondent of the Novoe Vremya wires that the Germans are falling back into Silesia (southeastern Germany) before the Russian advance from Poland, as follows:

WARSAW, Sept. 17.—While General Ruzsky and General Brouisoff are continuing their successful operations against the Austrians and their strongholds in Galicia, a Russian army is proceeding west through Poland. This army is the one that crushed the Austrian left wing at Opole and Turobin. The German forces that entered Russian Poland are steadily retiring before the Russian advance, falling back into Silesia.

The news of Russian victories has caused a headlong flight among the Germans in the districts of Cwestochowa, Klobuck, Sieradz and Kalisz. Long transports of munitions and stores are moving and every day loaded trains leave for Kreuseburg.

(Kreuseberg is in upper Silesia, fifty-five miles east-southeast of Breslau.)

A carefully worded dispatch from Berlin, via Amsterdam, says that the German Emperor is "reported semi-officially" to have indicated that, while Germany will put no obstacles in the way of peace, it will not consider any negotiations threatening her territory or weakening her commerce.

TELL OF TERRIBLE LOSSES.

The first actual details of the terrible losses sustained in the fighting in France were made known today by the following cable:

PARIS, Sept. 17.—Terrible stories are reaching Paris of the piles of dead and wounded which encumber the battlefields of the Marne. The railway lines to East Paris are crowded.

At one place the Germans had built a barrier six feet high, of dead, behind which to resist French charges. This barrier was finally captured after a bloody struggle by Turcos, and a horrible litter of 7,000 corpses now mark the spot.

The English War Office has declined for the present to give the figures, saying they are so great as to seem unbelievable.

Detailing Russian operations, the British Official Press Bureau has issued the following announcement:

"It is stated from Russian official sources that the rout of the Austrian army in Galicia is complete, though full details have not been received.

"The Austrian loss since the taking of Lemberg is estimated at 250,000 killed and wounded, 100,000 prisoners and 400 guns, many colors and vast quantities of stores.

"The Germans made desperate efforts to save the Austrian army, but failed completely.

"At one point the Germans lost thirty-six pieces of heavy artillery and at another several dozen pieces of siege artillery."

Allies Attacking Without Success, Berlin Declares

BERLIN, via Amsterdam, Sept. 17.—This official announcement was made here today:

OFFICIAL

German coat-of-arms.

The attacks of the allied British and French forces on our front continue without success. Some advantages have been gained by our troops, but they will not press the offensive until the enemy has exhausted itself.

The rapidity with which the German armies accomplished the invasion of France made it necessary that they should be given a brief respite. This they are obtaining.

ROLLER INJURED IN MAT BOUT WITH HUSSANE, SEEKS A RETURN BATTLE

ROLLER AFTER RETURN BOUT WITH HUSSANE

"Doc" Roller, the Seattle physicianwrestler, today asked for a return match with Kossuct Hussane of Bulgaria, to whom he lost a decision in Mechanics' Building last night.

The contest ended suddenly and unexpectedly. The men had been wrestling less than an hour—fifty-one minutes, to be exact. They had just regained their feet after a short tussle. Hussane came up behind Roller, quickly secured an upright half nelson, picked up his antagonist and threw him heavily.

In landing Roller's head struck first. He tried to offer opposition but was unable to do so and then fell into a lapse of unconsciousness. It could be plainly seen that he was out.

The rest was easy for Hussane. All he had to do was to settle the lifeless shoulders of Roller against the mat and the fall was got.

ROLLER UNABLE TO GO ON.

A physician was called into the ring. After he had worked over Roller a few minutes the wrestler came to. He was assisted to the dressing room. There it was found that he was in no condition to continue wrestling. He was suffering from a slight concussion of the brain.

Roller asked to be allowed to keep on wrestling, but Promoter Tuohey forbade him to do so. The bout was called off and Hussane awarded the decision.

Roller was dissatisfied today with the result. He said that the outcome would have been different if he had not struck his head against the mat. This claims seems just, inasmuch as Roller was helpless before the fall was secured. If he had not been in a dazed condition it is hard to tell what might have happened.

Hussane had what slight advantage there was up to the sudden ending. Roller was the heavier of the two, but the Bulgarian made up for what he lacked in weight by his skill and cat-like agility.

MEN EVENLY MATCHED.

For fully twenty-five minutes neither Hussane or Roller was able to gain any real advantage. Most of the grappling during this period was done while the men were on their feet.

Twice Roller locked Hussane's head in his arm only to have the Bulgarian wriggle to safety by the use of his body.

Both men fought desperately for a grip, and failing to get it, they resorted to a game of leap frog in hope of securing a flash fall, but try as they might neither man could hold.

The Bulgarian did manage to put Roller in a very dangerous position at one time. He forced one of Roller's shoulders to the mat, but he lost the hold a second later when he and his opponent were called to the middle of the ring in order to abide by the rule that no wrestling should take place outside of the ropes.

At this point Hussane took the defensive. For the next nine minutes between his legs. Roller grabbed his opponent's right heel, bent it away back and for a time put him in an uncomfortable position.

BURNS IN DRAW BOUT.

Hussane waited for the opportune moment when that came he broke in a flash. Once again Roller made Hussane work his shoulders away from the mat. He locked both his arms around the Bulgarian's neck. It looked bad for Hussane, but he was equal to his task and struggled to his feet in safety.

Then came the sudden finish, as already described.

Cyclone Burns, Boston's own favorite, just back from the war zone, battled Mort Henderson of Rochester, N. Y., to a draw in the semi-final match, which was limited to thirty minutes. Henderson is one of the best men Burns has tackled in a long time.

Pat Connolly, champion of Great Britain, threw Dalkus, the husky Finn, in the opening bout of the evening. It took Connolly just 11 minutes and 30 seconds to accomplish his task.

Dalkus was much bigger and heavier than Connolly, but the latter was clever and it was by the means of his cleverness that he secured the fall.

Burns Meets Hussane in Big Bout Tonight

Cyclone Burns, fresh from his European trip, will meet Youssouf Hussane, clever Hungarian wrestler, tonight at the Grand Opera House, with a short limit, one fall to win. This is easily the most severe test that Burns has had since he met Mahmout several years ago and if he can hold his own with the Bulgar it will be a great boost for the ex-Boston heavyweight. Burns has grown bigger since he appeared here last Spring and will have a fine edge against a man of Hussane's skill he will be able to make the latter go some before his shoulders are pinned to the canvas. The style will be catch-as-catch-can, with the toe hold barred.

Shorten on Way Here to Fix Up Sox Terms

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 17.—Charley Shorten, the leading hitter of the New England League, sold to Boston Americans by Worcester, has gone to Boston to talk over terms for a 1919 contract. He was made a good offer by the Federal League agents a few weeks ago when his sale to the Red Sox was announced.

Shorten has played professional ball three years, all with Worcester, and batted over .300 this and last Summer, hitting .305 in his first season. He is but twenty-two years of age. He is an outfielder.

Kilbane and Attell in New Title Bout

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 17.—Johnny Kilbane and Abe Attell will fight twenty rounds at Vernon on October 15 for the featherweight championship of the world. Attell lost the title to Kilbane in 1912. They will weigh 123 pounds ringside.

Sidelights on Sports

By A. H. G. MITCHELL

THOSE who contemplate an afternoon at the ball yard would do well to take their suppers with them—that is, today and tomorrow, while the St. Louis National League team is in town.

WHAT with kicking over decisions by the umpires, squabbles among themselves, encouraging each other, holding meetings on the field every time a ball was called on their pitcher, delicate as to whether the pitcher should be canned every time the Braves made a single, dilatory tactics, loitering and general procrastination, these St. Louis players from Manager Huggins down to the rawest busher on the team are certainly thieves of time.

IT is really something fierce the way they can manage to stretch out a game of ball.

The deliberations of a convention of snails would appear like a streak of lightning in comparison with them.

THEY should be pitied, not censured, however. They are not in their right minds. They are light-headed.

They are laboring under the hallucination that they have a chance to win the National League pennant. The world's series money has gone to their heads.

THE delirium from which they are suffering was manifested as soon as the Braves took the field to oppose them in the first game of the series yesterday.

Tyler had no sooner begun the &c. movement that characterizes his windup than there arose from the St. Louis bench a wild jabbering of tongues that sounded like an assemblage of lunatics, gathered for the purpose of acclaiming Napoleon King of the United States.

Umpires Hart and Rigler, in surprise, turned in the direction whence came the discordant sounds. Then they looked at each other and were evidently on the point of taking some action, when they decided that the St. Louis players were simply delirious for the moment and let it go at that.

BUT the loud chatter and the cries continued apropos of nothing at all, and finally Mr. Hart had to drive the visiting players, who were stretched out on the ground or perched like a flock of crows on the iron rail in front of their bench, down into their dugout.

From that time on there was less noise from that particular quarter, but out on the field the St. Louis players were making life a burden to the umpires and stretching the patience of the spectators to the breaking point.

HOW the officials stood for such kicking, such gestures of disdain and such remarks as were heard in the grandstand is beyond comprehension.

IT would be well for President Tener to give his umpires a day off in turn and allow them to see how the American League games are conducted by Ban Johnson's staff of officials.

THEY played eight and one-half innings of baseball yesterday and it took them two hours and forty minutes to do it.

Why not start the battles at noon while the Cardinals are in town?

IT was Evers day at Fenway Park, and they handed the gallant leader of the Braves a silver tea set, several rounds of cheers and a base on balls.

The base on balls came soon after the presentation of the silver, and Johnny, with the aid of his teammates, promptly turned it into a tally, whereupon the band played "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home."

The tea set will come in handy for on Tuesday night burglars entered the residence of Mr. Evers at Troy, N. Y., and stole all the silverware in the house.

JOHNNIE EVERS was a regular boa constrictor in the field. He never had a better day. He gobbled up everything that came his way in a very prompt and businesslike manner. He had a busy time, with six putouts and five assists.

He figured in two lightning double plays, one of them being a thing of beauty and a joy forever. The other came in the last inning, retired out a St. Louis rally and caused a kick on the part of the victims that was terrible to see.

Jack Miller, who, doubled up with Wilson, acted like a raving maniac when Umpire Rigler waved him out. It required the combined efforts of Manager Huggins and several of his players to get Miller back to the dugout.

Finally, when Miller arrived there, he turned and went through a pantomime that made Shodgrass' notorious gesture look like a compliment.

THE St. Louis team is a great ball club if the players will only play the game. It is a pity they make their tactics so objectionable.

MY old friend, Shep Freidman, well known in the theatrical profession by the name of Shep, kindly furnished me with "A Toast to the Braves." It was written by Miss Ennice Hammerstein, who is the daughter of Arthur Hammerstein, the producer of "The Peasant Girl," which comes to the Majestic next week. Miss Hammerstein, who has a leading role in this production, until recently was a Ghunt rooter, but lately she has turned her thoughts to the Braves, as the following effort in verse will show:

Once I rooted for the Giants,
With their dash and speed and science,
And I used to cheer a lot for Connie Mack;
For I thought these baseball giants
Made the rest all look like dubs,
And of other teams I kept but little track.

Umpires Hart and Rigler, in surprise, turned in the direction whence came the discordant sounds. Then they looked at each other and were evidently on the point of taking some action, when they decided that the St. Louis players were simply delirious for the moment and let it go at that.

But the whole world now is talking
Of the club that's been a-walking
Through the league where once they looked like humble slaves;
So their fame no more I'm mulling
And this toast today I'm shouting,
"Here's to Stallings and his gang, the Boston Braves!"

Never was a team so plucky—
Not a fan can call them lucky—
Not a fan today believes that they will drop;
For it takes a bunch of heroes
To spring up from unknown zeroes,
And it takes real grit to scramble to the top.

If the members of the Boston National League Baseball Club are figuring how they will invest their world's series money they better wait awhile and

First-Be sure they win the National League pennant and Second-After winning the National League pennant sit tight until they know what their share of the spoils will be.

For, be it known, instead of the players receiving dividing the pot, the National Commission will perform the act of cutting the melon.

REMEMBER what happened last year?

The athletes used the carving knife on the juicy fruit of the cucurbitaceous vine and a yell arose that carried further than the noise of a syndicate of boiler factories.

The Giants refused to give Larry McLean, who had showed better than all the rest of them in the world's series, a full share of the loser's end, and no umpire ever heard the lanky catcher's howl as loudly as he did when he looked at the check they handed him.

In the Chicago city series the Cub players got together and split the loser's end to suit themselves, with the result that more soreness developed than followed the losing of the series.

Some of the players carried their grievance to the National Commission.

Boom—Consume "MADE IN AMERICA" GOODS.

CUTTING DOWN PROCESS DUE FOR HARVARD

The morning and afternoon gathering of the Harvard football forces today will be a great way to determine just who the men will be to survive the first cut in the squad which is due to take place tomorrow.

Probably fifty men will be retained as varsity stand-bys until the middle of next week when another slash will reduce the candidates down to an even three dozen.

Coach Bob Guild will marshall his string of substitutes for a hard workout Saturday morning and for two more sessions next Monday. On Tuesday the first scrimmage of the season is on the cards, and after a battle royal is promised between the scrubs and varsity teams A and B.

The tussle will take up a good part of an hour and no quarter will be shown on either side. Guild knows that his squad this Fall will be far above the average varsity teams that Harvard has had in other years, and he is confident that it will make the Crimson higher up' extend themselves to the utmost to turn back the black jerseyed invaders.

BROWN ON COACHING JOB.

Reggie Brown, the man who does the scouting for Harvard, came out in town yesterday, but confined his coaching to keeping his eyes and ears open. He took an especial interest in watching some of the big fellows pushing along the charging machine and declared that he was glad that all differences between himself and the Harvard management were adjusted, as he found his duty of scouting a pleasure rather than work.

Captain Brickley spent the most of the afternoon in drop and place kicking. His kicks, which were for the most part successful ones, averaged over from a variety of angles and at distances ranging from fifty yards to two and one-half yards.

Brickley paid a great deal of attention to McClintock, a substitute back, whose efforts as full back impressed on grew better and better.

"Mack" next to Brickley is probably Eddie Mahan, gives promise of coming through if called upon for a score by kicking when the season's clashes come to hand.

PLANS FOR BIG GAMES.

A hurry call has been sent out to Coach Dick Harlow to return to the fold this year, and again take the quarterback's hand. Varsity quarter Mal Logan has been in charge so far and found but little time to conditions himself and get rid of a few pounds of superfluous weight.

Westmore Willcox, although lacking weight has already proved a hero on the squad, that his candidacy must be respected.

Next to the Virginian, young Wingor and Red Doherty have attracted the most attention from the coaches, who have taken them in hand until "Wiggie's" arrival in Cambridge.

Preparations are already under way at the Harvard Athletic Association for the major contests on the football schedule. Application blanks for seat reservations at the Harvard-Michigan, Princeton, Brown and Yale games are to be mailed out to some 25,000 alumni early next month.

Banner crowds are looked for at all these games, especially the Michigan and Princeton games at Cambridge, and the Yale contest in New Haven.

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE

GRIDIRON GOSSIP

WEST POINT, Sept. 17.—Though the Army's practice was for the most part quiet and orderly, a spirit of pre-season training is not at an end, for Head Coach Daly still refuses to take any chances that will tend to cause early injuries. The men obtain what they need to get started, but the nearest they get to a scrimmage was a three day run around the camp with the pigskin a half hour before the end of the current drill period, and the ball changing fifty yards. The line yesterday looked good with Meadors and Hyer back. The latter, coming from behind the big Montanaman, at centre rush, Butler and Stewart and Lloyd were at tackle. The ends were Britton and Merrylist. An important change was the shifting of Holmes to quarter, where he alternated with Captain Prichard.

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 17.—The squad of new men who are out for the Navy Academy football team was increased to sixty and the pace was increased yesterday. Coach Ingram had Howard Fowler and Ghormley, former backs of the Naval Academy team, out with the squad. He intended to sending the ends down under kicks and other preliminary work. Lieutenant Bullard, head coach, has not reached Annapolis yet and there is no definite date for his arrival, although it is that account. It is understood that two of his assistants will be well known college men from one of the leading Western institutions.

PRINCETON, Sept. 17.—A twenty-five minute scrimmage gave the Tiger team its initiation into first business. Two teams were chosen by Coach Fendall and Captain Bailie's team won the contest by a score of 12 to 0. Substitutions were frequent and gave most of the entire squad had a chance to show what they could do. The original lineup of Bailie's was almost the same as Tuesday. Tuesday's work and Doolittle took his place at halfback, Brown and Charles made a fast pair of ends and both worked well on the receiving end of the forward passes, to which they responded in the main with due attention. Present indications tend to bear out the earlier report that the Tigers will forsake the old style of game.

ITHACA, Sept. 17.—A series of hard scrimmages featured the Cornell football practice yesterday and today. The entire varsity squad has reported now and the fight for positions is on. Coach Dobie has the men working hard. Gus Christ, Charley's starting fullback, who played at halfback last year, is now at quarterback. Coach Dobie has also shifted Barrett, Hill, Phillips and Oellner played at halfback last year, to quarterback. Barrett relieved at quarterback, Hill and Phillips halfbacks, and Oellner was put at fullback. The entire squad of Cullner at fullback is believed to mean that Cullner will hold this position all Fall. In spite of the fact that he was the regular man last Fall.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—Captain Albert Journeay of the University of Pennsylvania football team will start in the season at centre, Hettenbury as a centre. This was decided by Coach Dietrich and Captain Journeay today. Dietrich and Kenneth Whitmore will be tackle and guard, respectively, and Edgar Henry will be the first call for the tackle positions. The big Penn line will be made up of Ralph Hetzel down the field under Jakes. Trainer Dever has been out on the field for three weeks without this fact being known to the players.

ANN ARBOR, Sept. 17.—Half the Michigan varsity on the second string at present. Captain Ramsdell at centre, Lucas at right guard, Wilson at left guard, Hall at left end are the only monogram men holding their old positions. Coach Yost has a good left end, Hollett, a halfback, Barton, an end; James, another halfback, and Ellis, a guard, on the second team. John Maulbetsch, the sensational sophomore was out today, but Coach Yost says he is nursing a surprise by using Maulbetsch at left end. Maulbetsch is a former star of the Detroit Y. M. C. A. Two monograms played four consecutive halves in this arrangement on the first day of Fall.

CARLISLE, Pa., Sept. 17.—The Carlisle Indians started their football training table yesterday with the approach of Tecumseh to school of Captain Elmer E. Busch and the division of the squad into two teams which, however, was not announced. Coach Glenn S. Warner was away and some backfield men, who

DOAK CALLED FOR DUTY TO BEAT BRAVES

WHAT MAY HAPPEN TODAY.

If the Braves win and the Giants lose, the Braves will be in the lead by four and a half games.

If the Braves win and the Giants win, the Braves will hold their present lead of three and a half games.

If the Braves lose and the Giants win, the Braves will keep by two and a half games.

If the Braves lose and the Giants lose, the Braves will lend by their present margin of three and a half games.

By NICK FLATLEY.

The Giants these days are while more or less the hero that pursued a bag of oats suspended from a stick which is fastened to the top of said equine's head. When they go good they don't get a bit nearer, and when they stumble they spill some of the oats. And the bag is almost empty now.

McGraw's minions managed to pull over a win yesterday but they are still that three games and a half to the good, as the Braves just to hurrah had to celebrate Labor day with a victory. It wouldn't have been treating Johnson just right to have done so though.

The Cardinals, who assisted in making Braves day and incidentally one of Boston Bives by kicking in with six errors, will try to come back today. As they will have quite a bit of stick-to-the-ribs ira they will try mighty hard.

Mc Inney got to Lefty Tyler the Cards made the grade to seven and the latter was all in after seven games. As the only hope of saving the flag depends on getting the edge in the Boston series, it's more or less up to them to come across with a win or say farewell to sundry visions of post season glory.

CARDS' LAST STAND.

To a mere casual observer, however, the hope of Huggins is an illusion nothing else. Both Rudolph and Spitball George Davis are ready to work today. They would stand pat on the first part in going better than they ever hoped to even when he was winning eleven straight.

The parts of the second part has vested with the exception of a single inning Friday last, since he whirled that very famous no-hit game for the Phils. What he showed on that justly illustrious occasion led the experts who watched to believe that he had something that is not good pitchers use regularly, lots of stuff.

Consequently the Braves would go out in back of him with just as much confidence as they would were Rudolph to do the pitching.

So the Cards seem to be on the horns of a dilemma, as Ping Bodie might say.

TYLER GOOD IS EVER.

In addition to shoving down the cardinals a peg and rendering end an useless a final victory, yesterday's triumph for the climbers had one other equally salutary effect. It saved that to day Tyler, who gave signs of being a bit tagged his previous couple of starts was just the same effective southpaw he has been during the greater part of the parade to the peak.

Which same will no doubt offer another subject for thought to the already overtaxed brain of M Mc Graw. What with writing his world known ads which we should say is quite a stunt these days and trying to gain on a team that hardly ever loses with a team that hardly ever wins, the hairs of the Napoleonic head are rapidly turning white.

The greatest little race that ever was will soon be assuming the

IT'S A HABIT.

"My eye is gone—I cannot hit at all,"
The athlete muttered with a heavy groan;
"But watch me knock the cover off the ball
When Walter Johnson comes to this here town"

Walter Johnson need not be downcast because the Athletics knocked him off the slab. He has plenty of company.

When it comes to spiking it may be said that Ty Cobb is there with both feet.

We thought for a while that the Kaiser would win by a knockout, but we have changed our mind. The Pankhursts are going to fight.

It is hard to tell how Freddie Welsh will be received in Milwaukee, but we have a hunch that the band will not play "God Save the King."

JOINT OWNERSHIP.

Said John McGraw in accents gay:
"There is no cause for sorrow.
The Braves may lead the league today,
But our turn comes tomorrow."

Branch Rickey seems to have shipped the Browns into form but it is too late to crowd out Cleveland.

Why doesn't Charley Somers get into communication with Charley Somers and arrange a world series in Cleveland?

CARDS HOPE TO OUST BRAVES AS FLAG LEADERS

By A. H. C. MITCHELL.

Another nerve-racking contest may be expected at Fenway Park this afternoon, when the Braves line up against Leslie Hoglen red nuts in the second game of the series.

The Braves, as everyone knows, are leading the National League race by 3½ games. Behind them, 6½ games away, are the Cardinals. The visiting players are jellying themselves into the belief that they can capture the pennant, and they are working tooth and nail to win every game in sight.

The Braves have no desire to relinquish their lead, and therefore they are also working tooth and nail to win every game in sight.

The methods of trying to win differ however. The Braves are playing straight baseball, and if they will not win. The Cardinals are playing a game that would try the patience of Job. If they win they are jubilant, if they lose they are frantic.

Miller Huggins, manager of the Cards, is an unsophisticated wonder with a head on his shoulders and he and his players deserve great credit for the way they have played.

[illegible] to beat Boston. The Braves have won a majority of the games played between them, and I expect to see our friends to take at least two out of the three games that will be played. Already the Braves have won the first game. Now let them win the second and then the third.

The game to-day at Fenway Park will be a pitchers' battle, as the Cardinals are sending their star southpaw, Leslie Hoglen, to the slab. The Braves are due to start with Rudolph, who has been working for St. Louis.

THE AMERICAN'S MAGAZINE PAGE

The Manicure Lady

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

"I WAS reading out loud last night to Mister Mayone from a book of travel," said the Manicure Lady. "It was wrote by a lady that has went almost everywhere in the world that it was possible or safe for a lady to go, and I couldn't help feeling that I was a awful mutt to stick around this city until I get old. Just think, George, I ain't ever been over a hundred miles outside of Boston since I was a little kid.

"The lady was telling about some of her travels in Egypt, and she told what a strange feeling came over her when she climbed up onto one of them pyramids. She said that she seemed to see the fair face of Cleopatra unfurled to Mr. Mark Anthony, of Rome, and seemed to hear that queen's voice singing along the River Nile. Gee, I would feel all to the merry if I could make a few of them stands sell have them grand, romantic feelings. The only places I ever travel are right around here, like to Nantasket or Revere Beach, and goodness knows you could stand around Revere Beach long enough without dreaming of any old Egyptian queen. There ain't nothing soft about the music of one of them merry-go-rounds, and there ain't no romance about eating hot dogs and drinking soda.'

"I often had a notion to go across the pond, too," said the Head Barber, "but I don't see no class to standing on a pyramid and dreaming that you are giving some dead queen the eye. What I would like to do if I went traveling would be to play the wheel at Monte Carlo. I've got a system all worked out to beat the roulette game as they run it there, and the only thing that ever kept me from going over there and breaking the bank was that I didn't have the price to take me there in any kind of style and leave me any kind of a bank roll to play with."

"You might just as well stay right here in the city if that is your only idea of travelling," said the Manicure Lady. "You can play roulette right here without going abroad. There ain't much sentiment to your nature, George, if you could go clear across the ocean to where all them grand old ruins is, and spend all your time while you are there trying to win money gambling. I don't suppose you would even go to London and see the tower where King Richard had his two little nephews crooked. You wouldn't be able to get away from your old gambling long enough to see that tower, would you?"

"I wouldn't care none to see anything like that," said the Head Barber. "My going there wouldn't bring them little nephews back to life, and it would only make me sick. That ain't what a person should go traveling for—to feel sad."

"But unless you can uplift your intellect, this traveler says in the book I was reading, there ain't much in this traveling at all," said the Manicure Lady.

"I guess my intellect don't need no uplifting for the business I am in," said the Head Barber. "Even if I knew a lot about history and them old historic places, I couldn't give a customer a better face massage."

"No, George," said the Manicure Lady, "but you would be a whole lot more interesting gent to which to talk to."

Getting Back

A well-known medical man recently told the following amusing story: An enterprising tradesman sent him a box of cigars, which had not been ordered, together with a bill. The accompanying letter stated that, "I have ventured to send these on my own initiative, being convinced that you will appreciate their exquisite flavor."

In due course the doctor replied: "You have not asked me for a consultation, but I venture to send you five prescriptions, being convinced that you will be quite as satisfied with them as I am with your cigars. As my charge for a prescription is £2 that makes us quits."

Sir George Reid, the High Commissioner for the Australian Commonwealth, is enormously popular.

When he was made a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George the people of Australia, who had known him as plain George Reid, worried him a good deal about his new dignity.

At one of his meetings a heckler called out sarcastically:

"Say, Sir George, what does 'K. C. M. G. mean?

Without a moment's hesitation the new K. C. M. G. replied:

"'Keep calling me George.'"

ADVICE ABOUT HOW TO REMOVE UNSIGHTLY HAIR

Many physicians use the ingredients contained in El Rado for removing hair in connection with their laboratory work. This shows conclusively how perfectly harmless its action is. Thousands of women have discovered this, too, and have learned how totally unnecessary it is to go around with unbeautiful growths on lip, chin, cheek, neck or arms. They apply a few drops of El Rado, the liquid hair remover. Almost instantly the hair vanishes, leaving the skin smooth, velvety and even whiter than before. This is common, positively without the slightest harm, the hair has been dissolved.

El Rado is now a standard toilet article, used by thousands of women. You need have no more hesitation in asking for and using El Rado than in asking for and using a toilet powder. Try El Rado on your arm; prove to yourself that it will do everything claimed. Your money back if you are not entirely satisfied. In 50c and $1.00 size bottles, at all leading drug and department stores, or direct from the Pilgrim Mfg. Co., New York. Valuable information sent on request.

The Wonderful Ruins of Athens

These Remains of the Old-Time Glories of the Queen City of the Ancient World Show How Perfect the Grecians Were in Their Mastery of Architecture and Building.

To the left, the Parthenon in centre, and the Propylaeum to the left. The Parthenon is still the most magnificent ruin of the ancient world. The hill of Lykabettos.

The Olypicum, or Temple of Olympian Zeus.

The Temple of Nike Apteros.

IN 1837 Athens was a squalid village. Today it delights to call itself the "Little Paris." Its wide streets and beautiful boulevards are a pleasure to look upon, and in a few years the pleasure will be still greater, for the city is being still further reconstructed and remodelled under royal auspices.

It is anticipated that in ten years the population of Athens, now 220,000, will be at least half a million.

Very delightful are the old temples. First in order is the Theseion, the best preserved edifice of the whole of the ancient Greece world. The temple has been assigned to Theseus, to Hercules, and to other gods. It was probably completed by 421 B. C. In the Middle Ages it was converted into a church and dedicated to St. George.

In the theatre of Dionysos, a wonderfully preserved theatre, the centre of the dramatic art of Greece in its golden period, one is struck by the friezes round the stage—reliefs of the time of Nero.

The wonderful seats have been preserved, particularly one destined for the priest of Dionysos. The fifteen Corinthian columns of pentelic marbls of the Olympieum date from the reign of Hadrian, and they once contained a statue of that monarch. In 1760 a Turkish viceroy took one of the columns for a mosque. The Diplyon formed the principal entrance of classic Athens.

The Stadion has been entirely restored. It was originally erected 330 B. C.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HOW TO BE INTERESTING

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

The other evening my girl friend and myself were introduced to two young men. My girl friend immediately started a conversation with one of them while I was at a loss for words. It soon became tiresome walking along uttering a few words now and then, and the young man that I was walking with also gave his attention to my friend. I felt "in the way" and wished myself at home.

Won't you please tell me how to make myself interesting?

DISCONSOLATE FLO.

SUPPOSE you interest yourself in Athletics and topics of the times. Read the newspapers and buy some magazines that treat of the interesting things going on in the world. Then bring up topics until you find one in which your companion is interested. After that symbolize and be a good listener. After doing this a few times you will probably cease to have a self-conscious haunting feeling "what will we talk about next"—and will gradually find yourself able to talk with the same interesting simplicity and vividness with which you write.

Mlle. Alice Nory, one of the favorite comedy actresses of the Athenee Theatre, Paris, says: "I find in Savon Cadum a protection for the skin and a beautifier for the complexion."

Every woman should know that the beauty of the skin depends upon the performance of its normal functions. To insure this condition of healthful activity, the regular use of a pure, medicinal soap is absolutely necessary. Savon Cadum, the great French Complexion soap, is made in France, from edible fats, medicated with the healing and soothing properties of the famous Pomade Cadum. Sold at all drug and dept. stores at 50c. a cake.

WAIT

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am an orphan living with my foster father since the age of three. He is a wealthy broker. I have been educated in Geneva, Switzerland, and have been in America eight months.

I am in love with a young European officer. I have known him since childhood. He comes from good parentage and has a prosperous future. My father objects to this marriage because this young man is not wealthy.

To marry the man my father has chosen for my husband would kill me I am sure! I am in the habit of obeying my father and I love him very much. He always said it would break his heart if I did not fulfil all his wishes. So far I have. Do you think my father is selfish, or am I? JACQUELINE.

YOU must not marry without love, but at the same time I do not advise any girl to follow her own emotions and disregard the advice of a parent who is older, saner and less swayed by mere feeling than she. Ask your father to give you time in which to plumb the depth of your own love. In a year or two the man for whom you care may make such strides in the world as to prove to your father that he is an admirable man as well as one who is desirable from a girl's point of view.

Formula for a Good Shampoo

People who use ordinary toilet or bar soap for cleansing the hair and scalp do not seem to know that such soaps remove only the dirt from the surface of the skin, while the scalp pores themselves remain clogged up. To put the scalp and hair roots in a healthy condition, it is advisable to use Birt's Head Wash, because it is a cleansing and purifying preparation that penetrates to where the secretions accumulate. It goes beneath the scalp surface, produces luxurious and abundant lather, takes out dirt, dust and bacteria, and leaves the hair and scalp in a delightfully clean condition.

The reason for these peculiar penefrating and cleansing virtues is due to the ingredients in Birt's Head Wash. These ingredients are cocoanut oil, white of eggs, glycerin and salicylic acid, combined with a refined creamy soap body. This formula is given openly, so that users of Birt's Head Wash may know exactly what it is.

Edith Vows to Punish Ralph for His Long-Drawn Out Treachery to Her

By VIRGINIA TERHUNE VAN DE WATER.

CHAPTER LIV.

THE daughters of Eve comes sooner or later the temptation to read a letter not meant for their eyes. To many a woman it is but a fleeting wish to ascertain by a single act that which otherwise she may not learn except by awaiting the deliberate advance of events.

To the broad-minded, honorable woman the knowledge that she has, even for a second, felt an impulse that is unworthy of her better nature brings with it a self-disgust that is so much stronger than the temptation that this latter loses its power, and she turns away from it with a silent prayer of thanksgiving that she had not been permitted to do that which until now she had believed herself incapable of doing.

But to her weaker sister the desire to discover something of which she has been kept in ignorance obliterated all scruples.

Such a desire, coupled with suspicion that was a thrust at her vanity, moved Edith Hale to pick up the letter lying before her. The large, flashy chirography affected by some women of dashing personality stared out at her so suddenly that she took in the whole written message at a glance.

"Dear, I shall be in town tomorrow. Meet me for dinner at the usual place at seven-thirty. As always, E. P."

Edith dropped the letter in sudden agitation as the suspicions caused by the Baltimore postmark on the envelope were justified by the initials signed to the communication. She recalled that these were the letters affixed to the telegram that had come for Ralph on the night of the engagement dinner, also that Ralph had told her that the sender of the dispatch had been a Mrs. Evelyn Price, and that when he had later acknowledged that at one time he had an affair with a woman—an affair of which he was ashamed—she had suspected that it was with this same woman—the woman with whom Tom had some dishonorable association. But Ralph had broken with this Mrs. Price.

EDITH REALIZES THAT RALPH HAS LIED TO HER

She grasped as she appreciated that this letter was proof positive that he had not done so. No woman would address any man as this correspondent addressed Ralph, taking for granted his comprehension and his acquiescence, unless she was on intimate terms with him. And all this while she, his betrothed, had been deceived by him, had trusted him—or had tried to trust him.

Edith Hale's hand did not tremble as she picked up the letter from the floor and looked at it again. It bore the date of May twenty-sixth, and today was the twenty-eighth. The writer spoke of "tomorrow." Then it had been yesterday—last night—that Ralph was to meet her "at the usual place." And he had told his fiancee that he had a business engagement in town!

The girl laid the letter just where she had found it and went quietly down the steps and out of the house. She had made her plans before she had walked far. She would not consult her father until she had done as she pleased in this matter. Had she ever loved this man? she wondered. Her pride was hurt, her vanity cruelly wounded, she was angry—yet her heart was not sad.

She was in the habit of looking at everything from the standpoint of its effect upon herself only. Her chief regret now was that she had announced her engagement. Yet, after all, she had never actually announced it. She had only let people congratulate her. But—she caught her breath—if Ralph could explain this letter if he could convince her that all this was some horrible mistake—would she remain engaged to him?

She knew that of late he had bored her, that Mrs. Morton had seemed decidedly egotistical and commonplace this afternoon, that as she Edith Hale, imagined a life with Ralph Morton and his mother, she was oppressed by a conviction that such an existence would be flat, stale and unprofitable.

The woman of deep nature may not understand the frequent changes of sentiment to which this girl was subject. But it must be remembered that she had never loved any man as much as she loved herself, her own comfort and her own pleasures. Demonstrative in her expressions of affection when she was indulged, resentful when thwarted, happy in the sunshine, unhappy in the shade, fond of being loved and of being amused, she was like many another American girl of today. There are certain plants of the spirit that need some shadow to make them grow. If the seeds of such were in Edith Hale's nature, there had been too much interrupted sunshine in her life to give them an opportunity to thrive. She did not love Ralph Morton, yet it was a very genuine feeling that made her cheeks glow and her dark eyes snap as she reached a climax in her decision.

SHE VOWS TO PUNISH RALPH FOR HIS TREACHERY.

"I'll make him uncomfortable—I'll punish him for this!" she muttered.

"Good afternoon, Miss Hale."

Edith awoke to consciousness of her surroundings with a start. Edward Dayton stood in front of her, his hat in his hand and an admiring smile on his face.

"You looked so severe that I was almost afraid to speak to you," he said laughingly; "but your wrath—or whatever it was—has no becoming to you that I could not bring myself to the point of allowing you to pass."

The girl laughed. His presence at this juncture seemed a wonderfully happy coincidence.

"May I walk as far as your house with you?" he asked, falling into step beside her.

"Of course, you may!" she replied, cordially, then chatted merrily until her home was reached. Here she invited him to come in, and, excusing herself for a moment, sought her mother.

"Yes! Dayton is here," she said hurriedly. "Won't you go down and invite him to stay to dinner?"

Being a well-trained American mother, Mrs. Hale went downstairs to carry out instructions while Edith went to her room to don a bewitching dinner gown. Yet she found time before dinner to call up Ralph Morton. He had just reached home and greeted her in an affectionate voice. But his tone changed to one of consternation as he received her message. She would prefer that he did not call on her this evening.

"But I have made all my plans to come," he protested.

"And I," she said curtly, "have made all my plans not to have you come. Good night!"

There's often a lot of difference between two articles that seem alike. For instance, Fels-Naptha Soap is as different from the old-fashioned soap as the new skirts are different from hoop skirts.

To do a big wash with Fels-Naptha Soap, will take you just half the time, no rubbing until your arms are stiff, nor boiling the life out of your clothes. Just put the wash to soak for a short time in cool or lukewarm water after rubbing on Fels-Naptha; then you are ready to give the clothes a light rubbing; rinse, blue and hang out. They will be clean and white; and you will not be tired to death.

A Beauty Hint From Anty Drudge

Mrs. Onceyoung—"I declare, I look fifty years old, and there goes Mrs. Sensible, who is just as old as I am, and she looks not a day over thirty-five. I don't see how some people have the knack of keeping their looks."

Anty Drudge—"Several years ago Mrs. Sensible looked as old as you do now, but she was wise enough to use Fels-Naptha Soap for her housework. When I told you about it, you said you didn't believe anything that was so easy could be any good. That's all the difference."

Better buy Fels-Naptha by the carton or box.

Do You Ask "How Does War Affect America?"

Read Hastily a Few Facts Concerning Cotton

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company

War is a bad thing for the whole world. Bad morally, bad physically, bad commercially and financially.

War in one part of the world affects all the rest of the world.

Fortunately for us, the United States will gain more than it will lose. The other great manufacturing countries checked or destroyed must turn to us for what they need.

For an idea of the present effect of the war on one individual line of effort in this country, totally free from all war responsibility, CONSIDER COTTON.

There are in the world, altogether, about one hundred and forty million spindles that turn the raw cotton into cotton cloth.

Of these spindles about one-third are in Germany—approximately fifty millions—AND THEY ARE IDLE.

This means that the cotton which we grew in America for the German spindles will not be sold to Germany. No wonder that cotton sells as low as six cents a pound in Texas, a price unheard of, and meaning bankruptcy for the grower.

In England the spindles—about fifty millions of them—are nearly all idle. The English are spending their money on war—they have little or none for cotton cloth—and the cotton is not bought.

And so it is all over the world—our cotton remains unsold. The South suffers.

AND THIS COUNTRY IS PENALIZED LIKE A CRIMINAL FOR THE OUTRAGEOUS, CRIMINAL WAR OF EUROPE WITH WHICH WE HAVE NOTHING TO DO.

In Japan they are using some of our cotton, but little. They have only half a million spindles there.

Most of their cotton cloth they buy in Germany or in England—after Germany and England have taken the cotton from here, spun it into cloth and shipped it to the East.

If the United States Government were run for the promotion of trade and American prosperity it would actually pay to establish in Japan five or ten millions of spindles, THE UNITED STATES SUPPLYING THE CAPITAL AND JAPAN SUPPLYING THE LABOR.

This would not be competition with home workers on the part of the United States. On the contrary it would afford a market for the cotton grown here which Japan cannot grow. And it would let the Japanese do the work in making the cloth worn by Japanese, which would be the right way to do it.

Luckily for us, in Japan one spindle uses up four times as much raw cotton as one spindle in England.

Two Japanese spindles use up an entire bale of cotton in one year.

In England it takes eight spindles to use a bale of cotton, because in England the cotton is made much finer, and the spindle, working on a finer cloth, uses little cotton. In Japan the very heavy cotton cloth uses the cotton rapidly—an excellent thing for the American grower.

Everybody of course would yell "paternalism" if it were suggested that the United States set up spindles in Japan to encourage American cotton growers.

In the same way certain individuals talk of paternalism, and the destruction of the noble, competitive spirit, when it is suggested that the Americans, as a people, build, own and operate the steamship lines to prevent our country being put at the mercy of foreign wars, and to give to our producers, manufacturers, farmers the benefit of freight at the lowest rates.

But before long the Government of the United States will cease to be a government merely for the supplying of offices for politicians, the levying of taxes, etc.

We shall eventually have A CONSTRUCTIVE GOVERNMENT. Then this country will do for the world's commerce and manufacturing what it ought to do—and lead all the rest.

Mayor Is Right—City Employes Must Pay Poll Taxes

Mr. Curley is absolutely right in his determination to compel the city employes to pay their poll taxes.

It must be a surprise to the community to know that any men who, on the whole, are very well paid by the city should be attempting to dodge their taxes.

The AMERICAN has condemned this practice among the well-to-do and the alleged reformers who too often control and guide the policies of the Good Government Association; but the practice is none the less culpable among the city employes.

The AMERICAN has not approved of Mr. Curley's attempt to economize at the expense of honest city employes who are rendering efficient service in return for their hire, but those who are unwilling to pay their just taxes and to share with the rest of the community the burdens of government are not entitled to the sympathy or respect of anybody.

The AMERICAN is very glad to be able to approve of something which Mayor Curley has done or intends to do. We sincerely hope, for the good of the city, that he will merit more often in the future the good will of this newspaper

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

THE AMERICAN'S FAIRNESS

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—Please permit me this opportunity of expressing my thanks to the Boston AMERICAN for the manner in which it continues to handle the news from the theatre of war in Europe. I have had occasion recently to call the attention of my friends to the various ways in which the newspapers of the city have been printing the stories from the front, and to a man they agreed that for absolute fairness to all sides none of your contemporaries showed the unbiassed attitude of the AMERICAN.

Readers with any degree of intelligence realize the great trouble and terrific expense necessary to the securing of information from so many sources. Again permit me to thank you.

THIS LOOKS LIKE A WOMANS COAT
OH THE WOMEN ARE WEARING MENS COATS NOW
HELLO BILL HOW DID THE POKER GAME COME OUT LAST NIGHT
OH EXCUSE ME I THOUGHT IT WAS BILL
HOW DARE YOU
OH MABEL DEAR DID YOU WIN AT BRIDGE LAST NIGHT
NOW I KNOW WHY YOU WERE OUT SO LATE YOU WERE PLAYING POKER AGAIN
YES? WELL I WAS NOT PLAYING BRIDGE WHIST

And all due to the funny coats they're wearing. You can't tell Bill from Mrs. Bill when they have 'em on. And at that, we can't exactly dope out whether the men are wearing women's coats or the women are wearing men's coats.

"Buy a Bale of Cotton"

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES

YESTERDAY was a day full of encouragement for the "Buy a Bale of Cotton" movement.

There was interest everywhere.

Inquiries are rolling in upon the office of the Boston AMERICAN and the other Hearst newspapers. Some generous and significant purchases have been forwarded.

Nathan Straus, the princely merchant and philanthropist—a Southerner by birth—sends word to Mr. Hearst his check for $500 to purchase ten bales of Southern cotton.

The great mail order house of Montgomery Ward & Co. buys 10,000 bales of Southern cotton at $500,000! This starts the movement among the great department stores of the country, and is, so far, the greatest of all subscriptions.

B. C. Forbes, the AMERICAN'S famous business editor, buys a bale of cotton.

A great flanking movement against the European slump in favor of Southern cotton is now under way.

Sound business houses, like the Lawrence B. Smith Company of New York, are offering to buy Southern cotton up to 50 per cent. of all orders sent them from the South. This is a most significant evidence of business faith in the Southern staple.

Charles Otis, engineer, buys four bales of cotton as an evidence of a national public spirit and a business faith in cotton. He is also willing to exchange Long Island (N. Y.) real estate for cotton.

All the ranks of our citizenship seem to have caught the spirit of the "Buy-a-Bale" movement.

Cotton is bringing from 12½ to 13 cents a pound in Liverpool.

Cotton is bringing from 16 to 17 cents a pound in Germany.

To buy a bale of cotton is a safe expression of national public spirit:

Because cotton has already advanced one cent per pound in less than ten days, largely because the South has risen as one man in the movement to stimulate the market for the staple.

Because American mills alone used nearly 400,000 bales during August, at a time when trade was supposed to be under severe depression.

Because American mills used about 5,500,000 bales last year, and will be called upon for the coming year to supply markets deserted by the idle spindles of the countries at war.

Because the demand for "Goods Made in America" will from now on stimulate the demand for American cotton all over the world.

Because the money paid for one bale now will come to the Southern planter at a time when most needed, and enable him to finance himself for all needs until the market opens officially.

Because in buying one bale at 10 cents per pound you advertise to the world your own opinion of the value of your greatest export staple product.

At the AMERICAN'S office in No. 5 Winthrop square orders will be taken to purchase cotton through the Atlanta Cotton Committee and through the Atlanta Daily Georgian, the Southern newspaper of the Hearst system.

The official warehouses in Atlanta and elsewhere in the South will store every bale of cotton bought for 25 cents a month and send the purchaser a warehouse receipt. If he should hold it for a year the cost would only be $3, and the least likely profit is $10.

Cleopatra a Virtuous, High-Minded Queen

It now appears that for centuries Cleopatra, "the Serpent of Old Nile," has been a grossly slandered woman.

The famous Egyptian queen at last emerges from the shadows that have so long clouded her name. Mr. Arthur Weigall, the Inspector-General of Antiquities of Egypt, has given us an almost entirely new thought of the most interesting female sovereign of ancient times.

The generally accepted estimate of Cleopatra's character, he finds, was placed before the world by those who sided against her in the quarrel between the Roman world and Antony and Cleopatra.

After almost 2,000 years has come her vindication. Read the amazing story in next Sunday's Boston AMERICAN.
